TOTAL POPULATION, INCREASE, AND DISTRIBUTION.

Population of the state.—Arkansas was organized as a territory in March, 1819, and was admitted to the Union as the twenty-fifth state in June, 1836. According to the Fourteenth Census, taken as of January 1, 1920, its population is 1,752,204, which represents an increase of 177,755, or 11.3 per cent, over the 1910 figure. During the same period the population of the United States increased by 14.9 per cent.

The following summary shows the population of Arkansas from 1810 to 1920, inclusive, together with the number and per cent of increase for each decade, in comparison with the per cent of increase for the United States as a whole. The population shown for 1810 is that of the area now constituting Arkansas but then forming a part of the territory of Louisiana.

Counties.—Arkansas has 75 counties, of which 50 show increases and 25 decreases as compared with 1910. The following annexations to counties have been made since 1910: Part of Montgomery annexed to Garland, and part of Saline annexed to Pulaski. (See Table 1.)

Density of population.—The total land area of the state is 52,525 square miles. The average number of inhabitants to the square mile in 1920 is 33.4 (see Table 1), as against 30 in 1910 and 25 in 1900.

Minor civil divisions.—The political units into which the counties are divided are collectively termed "minor civil divisions." The primary divisions of the Arkansas counties are the townships, which number 1,441. There are also 349 secondary divisions, comprising 32 cities, 316 towns (including 3 for which the population was not returned separately), and 1 village. These secondary divisions form parts of the townships in which they are located. (See Table 2.)

POPULATION—ARKANSAS.

Cities.—Arkansas has 32 cities, of which Little Rock, with a population of 65,142, is the largest. Fort Smith, with 28,870, is the only other city with more than 25,000 inhabitants. (See Tables 3 and 4.)

The following summary shows, for the leading cities, the population at each census for which figures are available, together with the number and per cent of increase during the preceding decade:

Urban and rural population.—The Census Bureau defines urban population as that residing in cities and other incorporated places having 2,500 inhabitants or more, and rural population as that residing outside such incorporated places.

The following summary presents, for the last three censuses, figures showing the urban and rural population of the state distributed among places grouped according to specified limits of population. The classification for each census is based upon the population of the various places as shown by the returns of that census. Consequently the territory comprised within any one class of cities or that designated as urban or as rural does not remain fixed, because any given place may, through the growth or the decline of its population, pass from one class to another at successive censuses. The proportion of the population of Arkansas living in places of 2,500 or more increased from 8.5 per cent in 1900 to 12.9 per cent in 1910 and to 16.6 per cent in 1920.
